PROVEN SOLUTIONS

A variety of pipes and cables can be found on a roof connecting several systems. Roofing manufacturers require that these components be elevated off of the roof to protect the waterproofing membrane from rubbing and allow free flowing drainage. So while a pipe stand holds it up, what holds it down and keeps it in place? Anchor Products has the answer.

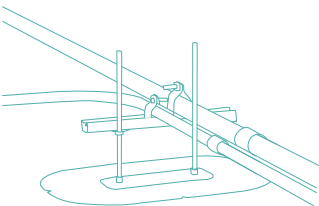

Conduit

Gas Lines

Pipe Anchoring

Your roof protects many mission critical systems such as HVAC, plumbing, electrical and even solar. So when integrating these systems, it's vital to make sure all components mesh well while leaving your roof watertight and the warranty intact.

Joel Stanley, founder of Anchor Products, recognized this need and began designing a universal anchor product that would be a seamless component of the roof system. After much research and design the U-Anchor was born.

Anchor Products is the pioneer in manufacturing non-penetrating rooftop attachments. Easy to install, lightweight, and dependable, Anchor Products is the choice of roofing manufacturers nationwide.

EXCEPTIONAL SUPPORT

We value our customers' feedback so that we can continuously strive to create new ways for Anchor Products to provide robust solutions for anchoring all rooftop equipment.

Our team is dedicated to raising the standards of service and performance in our industry by building connections to last a lifetime.
